Ross Canister System (Excludes Bag)

$195.00

The basic concept of the canister system, is that the air must pass through the canister filled with drying granules prior to reaching the reeds.

This canister system offers pipers an excellent means of controlling moisture, which means much greater stability of tone and longevity of reeds.

Drying the granules is achieved by placing them in a microwave for a few minutes. A second canister is provided with each complete setup, which provides pipers with a reserve canister for competition days, or long playouts if needed.
